

For Immediate Press Release

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

Motivation Champs Publishing is honored to announce the release of the new anthology book Power Up, Super Women

2/14/2019

These are challenging times, and there has never been a more complex moment in history to be a woman. Barriers are being broken, and glass ceilings are being shattered; however, too many women are still being left behind. But even with the chaos and confusion that ensues, hope and opportunity abound, and that is where Power Up, Super Women comes in.

About The Book: Within the pages of Power Up, Super Women, authors from across the globe share their messages of hope and empowerment. These authors are women who faced adversity, failure, sickness, disappointment, and hurt. Whether the stories are about illness, divorce, domestic violence, diversity, child birthing, climbing the corporate ladder, depression, and more, the authors leave the reader with a sense of inspiration and hope as well as the desire to rise up with the courage to face whatever it is life has in store.

Local Authors Participating: Western Pennsylvania natives

Jodie Edmiston (Derry) Jenny Lynn Hood (Harrison City) Dr. Renee Galloway (Penn Hills) Olivia Solomon (Greensburg) and Dr. Kelly Donohoe (Charleston, SC -formerly Greensburg) – join a talented group of global authors to share a message of hope. Women are taking the initiative and letting their voices be heard, and these local authors are leading the charge. In this day of the #MeToo movement, their book, Power Up, Super Women, is an awesome compliment to the philosophy that now is the time to step out of your comfort zone to pursue your passion, purpose, and POWER.

In Power Up, Super Women you'll learn:

It's never too late to live your best life.

Every dream is possible.

Setbacks do not define you.

It's time to unite and "Power Up, Super Women!"